Biography

Michael A. Siem is a Partner, Co-Chair of Patent Litigation Group, and Co-Chair of University Patent Litigation Group. He was previously Co-Chair of the IP Group at Goldberg Segalla and partner at a number of other large IP focused law firms.

Mr. Siem is a nationally renowned intellectual property litigator and registered patent attorney with a focus on complex and high-value patent litigation. In his patent litigation practice, Mr. Siem has been lead trial counsel in patent litigation claims, and his trial experience includes all aspects of the litigation and trial process. He represents both patentees and alleged infringers in various federal district courts, and litigates cases in many technological areas, including pharmaceuticals, medical devices, consumer electronics, chemical processes, computer networks, and biotechnology. Equipped with a deep understanding of pharmaceutical litigation related to intellectual property and the Hatch-Waxman Act, Mr. Siem also maintains a focus on matters related to Abbreviated New Drug Applications (ANDAs).

In the trademark realm, Mr. Siem has defended against claims of trademark and trade dress infringement, along with handling proceedings in the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board. Mr. Siem's experience also includes handling trademark litigation under the Anticybersquatting Consumer Protection Act with regard to the use and registration of a website domain name.

Mr. Siem also has significant experience in drafting and filing patent and trademark applications.

In addition to his intellectual property litigation trial experience, Mr. Siem has had arguments at the Virginia Supreme Court, the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals, and numerous other state and federal district courts.

Mr. Siem also dedicates a significant portion of his time to pro bono matters. In 2010, he obtained a reversal and new sentencing hearing in the Virginia Supreme Court for a client who had received a death sentence. He was also lead counsel in a
